YACHTING.

Here, with the land behind us,
Here, where the waters gleam,
Comes nothing to remind us
Of daily tug and scheme,
We watch the green waves scaring,
The little fishes playing,
The rippling bubbles straying,
And sea-tinted sands and dream.

Farewell, ye giant gables,
And gilt-wood-play croquet,
Of the fast, free, full-dressed rabble,
In the boarding-house array;
Of the rowdy, sight-seeing spree
Of the belles, and the impudent faces
Of the youths who copper the race
By night and yawn by day.

Give me the sea's fresh breezes,
That follow on the mast,
And now, as the swell increases,
Ban[illegible] sail and rope and spar;
Give me the swift gale tearing,
And the combing billows charring,
And, seaward, give me a basin,
Far o'er that stronger[illegible] S.

THE BORDER OF NARRAGANSETT BAY.

Seen From Conanicut Park.

[Providence Journal.]

The tide of travel has always swept by the islands of the Bay without touching them, except to strand a semi-weekly mail-bag and an occasional passenger at Prudence. Rhode Island need not be considered an exception to the statement, since that fair little continent is insular only in name. There has been, it is true, cross current from Newport to Jamestown Post Office, but while the points of the bay-border have caught shoals of pleasure seekers in such meshes that we were happy to be captured, the islands have not hitherto designed to throw out a single line for popular favor.

Was it in recognition of the neglect to which they are destined that Roger Williams resignedly christened one group, "Patience," "Prudence," "Hope" and "Despair?" The first three have certainly looked the embodiment of the passive virtues during all these years, and Despair has not belied its name. Taking the whole archipelago into account, it has been capable of exciting fine mental confusion. Although steamboats have usually passed east of Prudence, they are forming the habit of going by at the west, for the sake of Conanicut Park. This change does not increase the chances that the land will all be correctly named by casual observers on deck.

Still there are some indubitable facts afloat upon the stream of conversation, namely, that Prudence has blackberries and a school; that Hog Island, near Bristol Ferry, was once more musically called Chesawanock, and that Conanicut was named Jamestown in honor of King James II. The inhabitants have sometimes been visited by yachters and campers, but upon the whole, they have enjoyed almost the seclusion of Robinson Crusoe, with considerably better advantages for seeing the world.

Naturally this state of things could not last much longer, and naturally Conanicut, the largest of the islands, is first to lay aside such reserve. By wharf, receiving station, hotel and advertisements, it is remarking to the public that it has claims upon the attention of the refined and impecunious. It announces its purpose of establishing a colony upon the northern most end of its area. This it accordingly divides into lots, and with the buoyancy of young settlements, it pictures its future parks, avenues and "Bay View Drive" upon an imposing plat. Buoyancy is so contagious, and the aspect of the new buildings so inviting that the public already responds by leaving detachments of reconnoiterers whenever the Newport boat passes at Conanicut Park.

Like the other islands, this makes small pretensions to looks. The traveler must import that in his umbrella, until he reaches some friendly veranda, but he will never need a fan. If in walking up the gentle slope towards the hotel he remembers that the enterprise is largely a Newport idea, he probably wonders whether Newport has the faculty of teaching its magic to brownish, sandy lands like this. Seeing a grove at the south he suspends judgment, and when he has taken a seat upon the hotel piazza, he is ready to acknowledge himself tarrying on one of the "Fortunate Islands." Is it certain that he deserves finer fortune than to sit in the midst of breezes and be entertained by a view of half the eastern shore of the Bay? He has lost sight of Providence to gain a picture of the city that belongs to both bay and sea.

There are cars gliding along the edge of Middletown and Portsmouth. There is Fall River, and the unmistakable little mountain which makes so much of its 193 feet of height. Then Prudence, stretching northward, seems to meet Rocky Point, and the observer's eyes, relieved by the corner of the piazza, return to Newport to go more slowly over the same journey again. One recollects, by-and-by, that he can see the West Passage as well as the Middle, if he will mount the ridge of the island. One of the merits of Conanicut being that it is only a mile wide, the horizon is soon reached, in spite of the alluring blackberries and wild roses by the way. From this height there is a view familiar only to those who have sailed in one of the occasional excursions around Beaver Tail to Newport. Wickford, Bissell's Mills, Narragansett village and a few roofs belonging to "The Pier" are to be seen in the historic Narragansett country.

So from Newport around the northern end of Conanicut to the Pier a long flashing curve of water is visible, while across a narrow space at the south is a barrier of trees and high land, over which the eye cannot leap. If it could it would see the ocean beyond Fort Dumpling and the more distant Beaver Tail. Perhaps it would spy a little steamer plying from Newport to Narragansett, in the animated fashion of boats on the English channel. It would see the Payne homestead, with which Captain Kidd's name is associated as guest and friend of the family. For Conanicut is not so prosaic as it has looked to passers-by. It is reputed to have some of that unlawful treasure which the Captain distributed rather vaguely about the New England coast.

In justice to the Conanicut Park Association, we should notice that they do not offer this among the inducements to purchasers, after the manner of the "prize package" boys on the steamboats. They do not, so far as we know, claim that their section has any treasure save what is very obvious. Each new nook of beauty that is opened, whether on the Bay-border, or like this one, in the midst of the Bay currents, may seem to increase the difficulty of choice. Yet, after all, there are not more varieties of scene than there are of tastes in the scene-hunters. Although Conanicut Park is still an unbuilt village, a visitor can see what will be its distinctive features.

As it is situated on an island nine miles long, there is scope for driving those favored Conanicut horses which, a correspondent of the New York Times tells us, have never suffered from the epizootic disease. When an inhabitant's mood is too stern to be satisfied by the placid sights of the Bay, he can flee to the "Dumplings" or to the Beaver Tail crags, where the grim, grand war of wave and rock is waged unceasingly. The four summer colonies, Silver Spring, Cedar Grove, to Hallowoods and Conanicut Park are unlike one another in some respects, and you who hibernate in Providence, can easily visit them all, and then, according to your mental constitution, make your choice.

PECULIAR DOINGS AMONG OUR QUIET DIVINES. In 1836, Fitch Poole of Danvers, now librarian of the Peabody Institute, published in the Salem Observer what purported to be a letter from an eye witness, describing the ordination of the first clergyman settled at Peabody. It has reappeared from time to time ever since, a vitality only due to its intrinsic interest, and it has always excited the most learned criticism and discussion of its correctness.

Of the same sort is the humorous production of a clever Englishman, who wrote a satire on the tendency to sumptuary and ascetic legislation now prevailing, in which he took the ground that Englishmen were a nation of sneaks, and that fact was due to inordinate tea drinking. He was misinterpreted as an earnest anti-tea totaler, and the whole sisterhood of maiden ladies arrayed in phalanx against him.

Third and last comes a writer over the signature of "Howard," in the Philadelphia Press, who has succeeded in producing a most entertaining and amusing story, purporting to give an account of Hon. George B. Loring. It purports to be the work of a woman, and to have been written in Salem, and seems to have been taken in some quarters for downright earnest.

Newport Daily News.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 7, 1873.

Our friends will confer a favor, by sending us facts of any matter of local interest which may come to their knowledge.

Correspondence concerning matters of public interest will be inserted, but we do not hold ourselves responsible for opinions expressed in such communications. All manuscript must be accompanied by the name and address of the writer.

Are not some of our conservatives drawing things a little fine in regard to the cost of our volunteer firemen? In the city of Fall River they pay their firemen forty dollars each a year. Last year our Board of Firewards spent the generous sum of two dollars per fireman upon a review and inspection and are proposing to repeat that arrangement this year. There has, however, been an effort made in our City Council at their last meeting to substitute for this sum forty cents a man it being claimed that some of our heaviest tax-payers felt oppressed by the former extravagance.

Our firemen work without compensation and if the Board of Firewards can by spending such an amount as they propose keep up the present system they are undoubtedly as well justified in doing so as any Fourth of July committee ever was.

The board of Firewards are authorized to have a review and inspection and have an appropriation for the use of that department and if they consider the interests of our present system would be better sustained by bringing out the department to show our citizens what they have to depend upon, and give the firemen a chance to see that they are appreciated they should not only be encouraged, but our city government should countanance and sustain them in every way.

The fire departments of New Haven and Hartford although both paid departments and each costs ten times what ours does, have just had their annual parades and were heartily joined by their City Governments without any of the wrangling which has always occurred here in connection with appropriations for the fire department.

THAT MISPLACED CONFIDENCE.

We are under great obligations to the Providence Press, or rather its Newport reporter, for kind advice as to the way we ought to get our marine news. We have looked over our files for a fortnight and find that the thorn in the side of our brother must be more than two weeks old. The representative of the Press and Star was probably short of items and had in mind a mistake we made last May about the yacht Viking.

We don't know why our Providence friend should rely particularly on our local columns for news. It has here a salaried reporter who hasn't much to do except loaf around and get items. He is official marine reporter, and keeps two boats, and rows pretty well when he is in his right mind, and nothing larger than a bathing house gets in the way. It is a great pity the Star can't rely on us. That reporter could earn his salary so much easier by sending a copy of the DAILY NEWS to Providence than by getting items himself. It wasn't a great while ago that this reporter sought the privilege of coming to our office before we went to press, to read the proofs of our local matter, so that he could get his dispatches to the Press and Star written earlier. In return for this he was willing to share with us his marine information. We declined, and he has since very naturally discovered that not much reliance can be placed on our paper, and of course he hasn't much opinion of our marine news as long as we don't get it of him. If he only could have implicit confidence in us how much rowing it would save him!

We are dreadfully behind in the matter of news. There was Dr. Cummings house on the beach. We thought it was only some brush on the farther side of it that burned, but the infallible reporter of the Press telegraphed that the whole house was on fire. The truth was known as early as eleven o'clock but that impetuous journalist had his dispatch already sent and he didn't think it worth while to correct it. If he had waited two or three hours he could have told a correct story, and still have been in plenty of time for the Press.

We would suggest to our Providence friends that they get a reporter who can hang on to his temper, and telegraph what he knows something about, when he has a plenty of time to find out. We don't charge anything for this advice. It is as gratuitous as is that of our friends to us.

And now, while we are up, we wish to explain farther in respect to that poem by Gen. Van Zandt that we promised the visitors at Rocky Point a few weeks ago. We "put our trust in Providence," to quote the Star's stale joke, and took that item from the Star itself. A few days later the Star announces that Gen. Van Zandt would not read a poem on that occasion. The Star had stated that he would do so on the strength of an item in the Newport NEWS, which paper cannot always be relied on! That is an excellent way to get out of a mistake, but, to tell the truth, it lacks adipose tissue.

WATER.

To the Editor of the News:

The introduction of water is advocated to improve the sanitary condition of the city. The health of the city is dependant in a pretty large measure upon the condition of the various receptacles for the refuse incident to a dense population. Such as cess pools, privy vaults, stable cellars, pig pens, kenneries &c., &c. The city council already has complete control over them, and yet it has scarcely lifted its finger to carry into effect the large and beneficent power conferred upon it; and these sources of filth are left unrestrained to contaminate the water and the health of the city. If the city council would see to it that every vault, every cess pool and every stable cellar was properly cemented and that the filth was frequently removed from these places, there would soon be but little occasion to complain of the impurities of the water, especially if the swill and garbage were gathered up, and carried off daily. When this subject has received the deserved attention from the city government the argument in favor of the introduction of water will be changed, if its force will not be abated.

The conducting of all the refuse of the city into common sewers and having it discharged into the harbor in front of the wharves, may not improve the health of the city, the odors which would be thereby created in the neighborhood would be neither wholesome nor agreeable.

A word about the source of supply of pure water: The delta below the laundry on the north end of Easton's pond shows the amount of debris taken up by "Bailey's Brook" which has been deposited in that place, perhaps not, for the old people say that the depth of the entire pond has in their day been wonderfully diminished from this cause. Think of the people of Newport having to swallow and to digest all or any of this refuse.

Has any one ever thought of obtaining a supply of water from the Lily pond and Spring pond? TAX PAYER.

The practical workings of the Prohibitory statute of Massachusetts make it a license law of the most odious character.—[Transcript.

William Dougherty was found in the streets of Philadelphia, by a policeman suffering with spotted fever. He was taken to the hospital where he soon died.—[Several Exchanges. It is cruel to make a policeman go on duty when he is sick.

A public indignation meeting was held in Montreal last evening in regard to the Pacific Railway scandal, and resolutions were adopted demanding an immediate and thorough investigation of the charges of corruption against the government.

Barnabas M. Roberts, Collector at Belfast, Me., was tried on Tuesday before U. S. Commissioner William H. Clifford on the charge of violating the law prohibiting officers of the revenue engaging in trade. He was acquitted on the ground that civil and not a criminal action should be brought to recover the penalty, and second, that the evidence did not establish anything against him.

The Town Hall building in Webster, valued at $10,000, was burned on Monday night; partially insured. The valuation of Worcester this year is $47,176,534, an increase from last year of nearly six millions.

C. H. Peabody, the young incendiary at North Stamford, Conn., who has been incarcerated in the county jail to await trial, was sent to the insane asylum at Middletown, Saturday, having shown unmistakable signs of insanity.

The loss sustained by the burning of Mitchell's Shoddy Mills at Ayer, Mass., on Monday is estimated at between $100,000 and $125,000, on which there is an insurance of about $10,000. There was not even time to save any of the contents of the mill, consisting of twenty carding-machines, stock, manufactured goods, etc. An older brother of Mr. Mitchell rushed up stairs to tell the workmen to escape for their lives, and before he could return was quite badly burned on the arms and head. The only things saved from the counting-room were the books and papers of the establishment.

At New Haven, about 9 o'clock Sunday night, John F. Mattoon, superintendent and bookkeeper of the Connecticut Oil Extracting Company, of Westville, fell from a room in the new insurance building on Chapel street to the ground, eighty feet below, and was probably instantly killed, as his lifeless body was found, yesterday morning, lying in Gregson alley, a few feet from Chapel street, badly crushed and with a considerable indentation made in the ground beneath it. The unfortunate man was twenty-eight years old, and had a wife and two children in Springfield, Mass.

The Cleveland (O.) Leader says that the move to repeal the clause of the state constitution which exempts church property from taxation meets with almost universal approval.

Senator Morton will open the Ohio campaign by a speech at Athens on the 23d instant, in which he will review the present national political situation, and probably devote some attention to the granges.

A memorial, says the Albany Journal, asking for the appointment of Judge Selden to the Chief Justiceship of the United States, is receiving signatures from the advocates of the women suffrage movement. It was started by Miss Anthony.

A threatened riot of colored troops is reported at San Antonio, Texas, growing out of a severe chastisement given to a negro soldier by Captain Toby, whose daughter the negro had insulted.

A dangerous hidden rock, not down on any of the charts, lies in the East River, near the foot of Nineteenth street. The steamer Easby struck upon it Friday afternoon, and narrowly escaped sinking.

The territorial election in Utah passed off quietly yesterday. The Mormon ticket was unanimously chosen, the Gentiles not voting. The usual number of women and children, mostly aliens, voted at Salt Lake City.

At Butler, Penn., on Saturday evening, three men boring in an oil well were burned to death, for the oil when struck had hardly come to the surface when it caught fire, blazing up one hundred feet or more. The bodies were not recovered until yesterday.

The views of the Grange question are to be promulgated at Athens, Ohio, on the 23d of August by Senator Morton.

A. P. Fonda, formerly auditor of the Hudson River Railroad, and the oldest Freemason in New Jersey, died at Paterson, Sunday, aged 79 years.

Samuel M. Williamson, of Wilmington, Del., was accidentally shot in Philadelphia, Monday evening, while examining a gun. The ball entered the left side passing downwards. He was removed to the hospital in a dangerous condition.

In Johnston Sunday, John Dunn, a notoriously hard character, was arrested on a warrant for vagrancy, and committed to the lock-up, from which he soon after made his escape, assisted, as is supposed, by outside confederates. Quite a large hole was found dug in the cement floor of his cell but he escaped by slipping the bolt of his cell door, which could hardly have been done without help.

The Pensylvania State Democratic Convention will meet at Wilkesbarra on August 27. The call, signed by S. J. Randall, has a great deal to say about Republican corruption and usurpation, and as usual, asks the people "to pause and reflect that they may see to what form of government we are, with certainty, drifting, and apply a remedy before it is too late.

The Republican State Convention of California has been called to meet at Sacramento on the 20th instant. The call specifie the objects to be the nomination of a judge or judges of the Supreme Court, to be supported at the judicial election, "and the transaction of such other business as shall properly come before the convention." The Sacramento Union says that under the last clause the people will expect an enunciation of principles, "something upon the powers and duties of corporations; and the power of the legislature to control them; also on the 'back pay' and Credit Mobilier business."

Cape May.

Sunday evening concerts are given on the lawn of Congress Hall with immense success.

The Fifth Maryland Regiment are the lions at the Cape, but the belles don't seem to be at all afraid of such animals.

A hop is given every Tuesday and Friday evening at Congress Hall. The music is supplied by Hassler's celebrated Philadelphia band.

The Misses Mary and Emma Cake were among the most elegantly attired ladies who attended the recent ball given in honor of Secretary Belknap.

Miss Alida Worthington, niece of Secretary Belknap, accompanied him on his recent visit to the Cape. Miss Worthington was a belle at Washington last winter, and was greatly admired during her stay at Cape May.

A. H. Haskins, the jolly room-clerk of Congress Hall, recently roomed four hundred people in fourteen minutes and a half, and shook hands with three hundred and twenty besides.

One of the belles at the Cape is so deaf that the beaux are afraid to make love to her, so she consoles herself by going down on the beach to try to find out what the wild waves are saying. She uses an ear trumpet and by this means she is enabled to hear their trumpet tones.

Congress Hall is "crammed full" of the elite of Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and other cities, and Mr. Cake, the genial proprietor, looks sad because he has not a few more rooms. The Congress is one of the best hotels at any seaside resort in our land and deserves its immense success.

—The steamer City of Newport was delayed an hour on her last trip from this city, last night, by the entanglement of a hawser in her wheel, in our harbor. The line became completely wound around the shaft and had to be cut out with axes.

—Messrs. Garnier and McKeery will play another game of billiards at the St. Denis rooms this evening. Madame Garnier, who arrived this morning, will play at the Academy of Music or Aquidneck Assembly rooms Saturday.

—The funeral of Mr. H. K. Hopps was conducted yesterday by the Rev. Messrs. C. E. Barrows, I. P. Holmes of Lynn, and Delcean De Wolf a classmate of the deceased. The services were of a deeply serious and interesting character, and were attended by many people from the First Baptist Church and from Lynn. On reaching the house Miss Fargo fainted, but recovered her strength sufficiently to go on the night boat.

—Yesterday afternoon, a gentleman on horseback on Thames street dropped his pocket-book containing $500. The lucky finder was the steward of the yacht Juniata, who, as soon as he found it, remained in the immediate vicinity about ten minutes to see if the owner would not miss his loss and return in search of it. In a very short time the gentleman came galloping along with a most anxious look on his countenance. He was stopped by the honest steward, who asked him if he had lost anything. He was answered in the affirmative and consequently the $500,00 pocket-book was handed to the delighted owner who showed his appreciation of the finder by deliberately drawing from his pocket a fifty cent scrip and handing it to the man as a reward for his remarkable honesty, and as an inducement to do likewise in the future. It is almost needless to add, the steward politely refused the proffered money, and thanked the generous (?) donor for his liberality. Who comes next to be the fortunate finder of the "filthy lucre?"

THE SALE OF PAINTINGS AT THE ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—The sale of pictures at Academy of Music was as well attended by some of our leading citizens as we expected to see, but we are sorry to say the prices realized were very poor. Mr. Rode, the proprietor of the Brooklyn (N. Y.) art gallery, has done his best to bring on a collection better than any heretofore seen in this city, but are the least appreciated, if we may judge from the manner they are selling. We hope our picture loving people will turn out en masse at a continued sale this evening at 8 o'clock, and a closing sale positively takes place at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning, when we expect to see a large attendance.

FIRE.—About 4 o'clock, Wednesday afternoon, a building at Saunderstown, opposite Dutch Island, owned and occupied for many years by Mr. John A. Saunders, as a boat-building shop, was totally destroyed by fire, including his tools, and the frames of two boats, fortunately only just begun. It is supposed to have been fired accidentally by some children who were playing near by. Loss not known.

PERSONAL.—The following comprise the officers connected with the U. S. steamer Frolic, now lying in our harbor. It will be noticed that several of the officers were formerly attached to the Torpedo Station and are well known to many of our citizens:

Commander.—C. M. Schoonmaker commanding.
Lieut. G. W. Coster, Executive officer.
Lieut. T. P. Gilmore.
Lieut. C. A. Stowe.
Master Charles Seymour.
Master E. A. Field.
1st Asst. Engineer Samuel Gragg.

Asst. Paymaster S. G. Boogs.
Asst. Surgeon S. Ayleck.
2d Lieut. of Marines T. G. Elliott.

SEASONINGS.

There were eight hundred tourists at Mount Desert, Maine, a week ago.

No more coasting is allowed down the track of the Mount Washington Railroad.

Old Orchard Beach, it is said, is livelier now than it was at the opening of the season.

Last week was a "gala week" at Atlantic City, on account of the visit of the "Fencibles" and the "Old Guard," military organizations of Philadelphia.

The St. Leon Spring, on Loup River, a northern branch of the St. Lawrence, nine miles from its mouth, is strongly saline, but not unpleasant to the taste, and its curative properties, especially in cases of rheumatism or neuralgia, are highly spoken of in the provinces. Gas is continually rising to the surface, and fish and eggs have been cooked by means of the flames when ignited.

Nine years ago, at Bar Harbor, Mount Desert, says a correspondent, there was one little inn down by the waterside that could squeeze twenty or thirty persons into its diminutive rooms and spread a few more out upon the bowling-alley floor. Nearby was a barn-like structure where a score might possibly have been stored away. Now there are eleven or twelve good-sized hotels and four or five small ones, besides a dozen private cottages, which will contain in all about eight hundred and fifty persons.

The pranks of the children at Long Branch have awakened the indignation of a correspondent of the Philadelphia Press, who thinks that if the old nursery rhyme be true, the Prince of Darkness must be busy during the summer devising pastimes for them. He says: "Nice little boys and girls trundle tin wagons up and down the piazzas, pound the floors with croquet mallets, shy croquet balls at each other's heads, and hit each other on tender and accessible points with their toy whips, thus producing a series of loud roars to add to the general confusion, while the babies in arms look on and add their shrieks to heighten the general effect.

There is a point on one of the Catskill Mountain roads where the surroundings are particularly grand, and where ascending carriages stop for a few moments to allow tourists to view a beautiful waterfall. Descending some natural stone steps, the traveller is taken to a small enclosure, and when this is sufficiently full (to pay) the water rushes and tears with sublime roaring, and complementary spray and grandeur, down from a lofty precipice, all for twenty-five cents. This is in the summer when the water is low; in the spring and autumn the cataract falls at all times but during the dry season a company dam it up and turn it on for the noted consideration.

New Bedford.

The repairs on steamer Monohansett have been completed, and she will be launched at 1 o'clock this afternoon, and will be ready to go on her route immediately.

A meeting of the subscribers to the new stock of the New Bedford & New York Steamship Company was held Tuesday.

Wm. W. Crapo made a statement concerning the conditions of the present company. The company, at its start, required an increase of capital to the amount of $225,000, which, with the property then in the hands of the old company, would make the capital $400,000. The president of the company had promised at the commencement that no money should be expended until the whole amount was subscribed. The sum of $200,000 had actually been subscribed and $50,000 more had been promised. The railroad corporation is anxious that some movement shall be made towards ordering the boats built, so that they may be ready to be put upon the line early in the spring. The meeting was called to see if the subscribers to the stock will order the boats, and run the risk of incurring a debt of $100,000, as the new boats will cost about $500,000. The directors voted to order the boats.

NOW A PILE-DRIVER'S PILE WORKED UP, AND HOW HE LEFT IT. Last week a gentleman residing in Salem received a legacy of $17,000 from a young man who had died at the West. Some years before this young man had applied to him for work on a pile-driving job in Boston, and out of regard for his destitute condition the good-hearted employer had given him something to do, though not in need of help. The moral is obvious. It is possible to be kind hearted, though a pile-driver; and it is better to employ a dozen destitute young men when you don't want any, than to drive one with $17,000 worth of speculation in his eye away. To lose such a pile would be pile-driving to one's cost.

It appears that the French artist M. Courbet, will have to pay dearly for the part he took in public affairs during the reign of the Commune. The president of the Civil Tribunal of Paris, some weeks ago issued a warrant authorizing the seizure at the Bank of France or elsewhere, of any sums, bonds or securities which may belong to M. Courbet, with a view to the reimbursement of the expenditure incurred by the state in reconstructing the column of Vendome. In consequence of this warrant, the officer of the court lodged with M. Durant-Ruel, picture dealer, an order not to pay any sums due to M. Courbet.

NASR-ED-DIN is doing much for Persia, where he has had the honor of introducing the electric telegraph. The first line of communication was established in 1861, and is about four hundred English miles long. It was laid down upon the grand road of the caravans, which begins at Teheran and ends at Tabriz. In his reign the first Persian railway was constructed, running from the capital to Schah-Abdul-Azim, a place much frequented by pilgrims, about ten kilometres distant. Improvements have embellished Teheran, and rendered that city habitable at all seasons of the year, which was not practicable formerly. The streets are now paved in the European manner with large square stones. In 1862 the nine ministries which already existed, under denominations analogous to those of the West, were concentrated into three (that of war, foreign affairs and finance, all the other branches proceeding from these three. Moreover the shah only acts in this manner on account of the confidence which he had in his ministers of war and finance. The presidency of the council, as people call it in France, was at the same time given to the former, Mirza Mohammed Khan, who, by his victories over the Turcomans, has merited this confidence of which he has always shown himself worthy.

He has a large collection of neat French china, painted with handsome designs; fine cut glass ware, complete silver sets and other necessary ware for large entertainments, also competent and obliging waiters.

Newport Daily News.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 7, 1873.

GENERAL NEWS.

From Washington.

WASHINGTON, August 6.—The Navy Department to-day received a dispatch from Captain Wells, commanding the Shenandoah, dated Cadiz August 5th, in which he says: Cadiz is in possession of the government forces. The insurgents surrendered without fighting, and the city is quiet. He says nothing about his conduct in that port. For this and other reasons the department does not credit the recent telegraphic statement of the 4th inst., that he had ordered the Spanish insurgent frigate Villa de Madrid to abstain from hostilities, and that that vessel remained at anchor under the guns of the Shenandoah.

From New York.

NEW YORK, August 6.—A Washington special says Col. Hughes, Republican candidate for Governor of Virginia, Col. James C. Carter, chairman of the state committee, and other leading republicans of Virginia, arrived in town to-day and will have an interview with the President. They expect the administration to recognize and give its moral support to the ticket nominated at Lynchburg as representing the substantial republican party of the state, and withhold its countenance or encouragement from the faction which supported McMahon in the convention and led by Senator Lewis.

KATE STODDARD.

The health of Kate Stoddard, the alleged murderer of Goodrich, is said to be failing rapidly.

THE CONSTITUTION.

A meeting of the Congressional Committee on Privilege and elections will be held in this city on the 1st of October for a consideration of the proposed amendments to the Constitution, which shall effect a change in the method of electing the President and Vice President. The meeting will be of a semi-public character, and several of the leading constitutional lawyers and writers on the special subject will be invited to address the convention.

MURDER.

A man named Fuller, of Providence, is said to be implicated in the murder of Andrew Gargan, (not Garvin), on Monday night. Fuller was last heard from yesterday, at Newport.

THAT YACHT.

A dispatch has been received from Mr. Phoenix, owner of the yacht Josephine, which was supposed to be the one run down by the Newport steamboat, stating that his vessel had been on the rocks near Point Judith, but had been hauled off and towed into port. No lives were lost. The above is accepted by yachtmen as a solution of the report of the running down and sinking of a yacht near Watch Hill.

ERIE.

Statements are making in Wall street that a series of law suits were about to be begun against the Erie Railway Company, by persons who claimed to have been injured by alleged violation of official trusts on the part of the present administration, and by the non fulfillment of its contracts with other corporations. One case according to statements making, would be brought by the holder of a certain amount of common stock, and the second by the owner of Erie preferred stock, charging that the company had violated the duties of their office by issuing bonds, the proceeds from the sale of which had been applied to the payment of the last dividend on the common stock. The third suit would be a formal demand for adjudication of the Erie Railway Company as bankrupt on the ground of refusing to pay interest on bonds of the Boston, Hartford and Erie Railroad, guaranteed by it. These suits, it is said, will be brought simultaneously. The friends of Erie characterized the projected suits as stock jobbing maneuvers.

COOPERS.

A mass meeting of the coopers of New York and Brooklyn, was held last night in Williamsburg, to take cognizance of the grievances of men discharged from sugar houses, because they were society men. The men have been offered work if they withdraw from the society, which they refuse to do.

Miscellaneous.

MADRID, August 6.—A bill was introduced in the Cortes providing for the establishment of a penal colony on one of the Ladrone Islands. The government is concentrating a large force of gens d'arms in Madrid to disaffected militia battalions. Senor Olazaga, late Minister to France, has, though Admiral Topete, tendered his services to the present government. The German consul at Lamoria claims $50,000 damages for injury to his residence during the bombardment of that city by the insurgent man-of-war. Government troops have re-occupied Larca, which has been in the hands of the insurgents since the declaration of the independence of Murcia. The insurgents have gained possession of Orihuela and threatened Alicante. A deputation left Salamanca for Madrid to negotiate a compromise with the government.

Since the opening of the bombardment, two hundred shells have been thrown into Valencia, and the troops have advanced six hundred yards. The insurgents are making a most obstinate resistance.

CHICAGO, August 6.—On the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad, near Napierville yesterday, the locomotive of a passenger train ran into the rear end of a stock train, smashing the caboose into fragments, and instantly killing Arthur Briggs, conductor, and a drover, (name not learned), and seriously injuring J. C. Morrow, cattle dealer, of Afton, Iowa. A brakeman and several drovers were in the caboose, but escaped with slight injuries. No one of the passenger train was injured. The accident was caused by the neglect of the passenger conductor to notify his engineer that the freight train was ahead, and a curve hid the latter train from the sight of the engineer until too late to prevent a collision.

CITY OF MEXICO, August 1, via Havana.—Lepie Lozada, the chief of the rebellion, was pursued and captured by Col. Rosades, who formerly fought under him. He was tried by court martial on the 18th ult. and shot on the morning of the 19th. He refused to have his eyes bandaged, and, kneeling with his face to the firing party, died with great courage.

RUSKIN'S MODERN PAINTERS. At last Mr. Ruskin has permitted a new edition of his "Modern Painters" to appear in the same size type and with all the illustrations of the last. The book had become so scarce—or rather two volumes of it had—that of late years it has been difficult to get a really good copy at any price. It fetched on one occasion £28 in cloth, by auction, though the market price when attainable has been about £16, or double the publication price. But the demand for the book has been out of all proportion to the supply. Why Mr. Ruskin objected to its republication is explained in his preface to the new edition which is an autobiographical curiosity, like most recent writings of Mr. Ruskin.

He has yielded, he says, with some violence to his own feelings, "for many parts of the first and second volumes are written in a narrow enthusiasm, and the substance of their metaphysical and religious speculation is only justifiable on the ground of its absolute honesty." This allusion seems to make it proper to say what is certainly no secret among careful readers of Mr. Ruskin's later writings that his theological opinions have undergone a complete change since his younger days. The religious, profoundly religious element in his nature remains, and must always remain the same, but he would not now make biblical phraseology the basis of such arguments as are scattered throughout his works in the famous "Lectures on Architecture and Painting" for example. The preface proceeds:

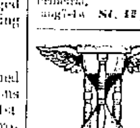

"Of the third, fourth and fifth volumes I indeed mean eventually to rearrange what I think of permanent interest, for the complete edition of my works, but with fewer and less elaborate illustrations; nor have I any serious grounds for refusing to allow the book once more to appear in the irregular form which it took as it was written, since of the art teaching and landscape description it contains I have little to retrench and nothing to retract. This final edition must, however, be limited to a thousand copies, for some of the more delicate plates are already worn, that of the Mill Stream in the fifth volume and of the Loire S.E. very injuriously; while that of the Shores of Wharfe had to be retouched by an engraver after the removal of the mezzotint for reprinting. But Mr. Armytage's, Mr. Cousen's, and Mr. Cuff's magnificent plates are still in good state; and my own etchings, though injured, are still good enough to answer their purpose. I sign with my own hand this preface to every copy, thus certifying it as containing the best impressions of the original plates now produceable, and belonging to the last edition of the book in its complete form. JOHN RUSKIN."

THURSDAY, AUGUST 7, 1873.

A Tale of two Cities.

Reasonable persons might suppose that there is room enough on this continent for more cities even than have found names upon the maps. They will be surprised, therefore to learn, that they labor under a misapprehension, and that the cities of the western states are already crowding and jostling each other, treading on each other's toes and elbowing each other, as it were, out of the highway to corporate fame.

Chicago and St. Louis are examples of this deplorable fact. Chicago, if we may judge from the newspapers, has an impression that St. Louis has no right to exist at all, because Chicago will some day expand itself right down through the state of Illinois across the Father of Waters and absorb a good part of Missouri; and on the other hand, St. Louis thinks that Chicago stands right in the track of St. Louis's future growth; and that Chicago ought to have been built somewhere up in the British possessions. If we may believe the tales of each about the other, both places are but deserted villages, ravaged by disease, ruined by the loss of trade, and rapidly dying out of the public view: spots soon to be marked only by the rankness of the grass which shall grow over them. On the other hand, if we may believe the stories of each about itself, both are rapidly absorbing all the population and all the wealth and all the commerce embraced between the Atlantic and the Pacific oceans.

When the latest official census was taken, St. Louis was greatly dissatisfied because it was not credited with its expected growth. It took a census of its own, which looked better. Chicago denounced it as a fraud and made merry over the alleged feebleness of its neighbor. But Chicago has lately taken its turn at census taking, and finds its population gratifyingly larger than when the United States census was taken. Now it is St. Louis's turn to ridicule such pretensions. "That's too thin a fraud," it says, "because Chicago was ruined by the fire, and it can't be as large as it was before that."

So matters have gone on from one thing to another, somewhat in the spirit of the boy who revenged himself upon his bigger rival by making faces at his sister. Watching the mortuary record of St. Louis, Chicago cries out "Ah! there's cholera! and why shouldn't it find a home among the swamps and sluggish streams and poisonous water of that place?" Then St. Louis looks over Chicago's "obituaries." "For shame, Chicago! You've got the small-pox and are trying to conceal it. But it's only laying the foundation for sweeping devastation on the approach of cold weather. Look out for Chicago!" Peaceable citizens will await the next developments in this war with great curiosity, if not apprehension. [N. Y. Press.

A Plea for the Mocking-Birds. The Richmond (Va.) Whig speaks a needed word in behalf of the Virginia mocking-bird, the only singing bird the state has, really worth mention. The Whig says, "This bird, whose delightful music is the chief charm of our country, at this season is being ruthlessly destroyed by the boys and others, who annually catch the young birds by thousands, and either kill them in their clumsy and cruel attempts to raise them, or else sell them to others who are seldom more skillful or successful in the difficult effort to mature a full-grown songster for the cage. We already hear the chirp of these poor young birds in our markets and on the streets, where they sell from $1 to $3 apiece. Out of 1000 young ones thus barbarously penned, and half-fed, not 100 survive to develop their powers of melody. Will not some intelligent and humane member of the next General Assembly introduce and carry through a bill for the protection of mocking birds?"

Diamond Spectacles.

THESE SPECTACLES are manufactured from "MINUTE CRYSTAL PEBBLES" melted together, and are called Diamond on account of their hardness and brilliancy. It is well known that spectacles cut from Brazilian or Scotch pebbles are very injurious to the eye, because of their polarizing light. Having been tested with the polariscope, the diamond lenses have been found to admit fifteen per cent. less heated rays than any other pebble. They are ground with great scientific accuracy, are free from chromatic aberrations, and produce a brightness and distinctness of vision not before attained in spectacles.

Manufactured by the Spencer Optical Manufacturing Company, New York. For sale by responsible agents in every city in the Union. H. A. HEATH & CO., Jewelers and Opticians, are sole Agents for Newport, R. I., from whom they can only be obtained. No peddlers employed. Do not buy any unless you see the trade mark. 6p

Miscellaneous.

Is the most powerful cleanser, strengthener and remover of Glandular Obstructions known to Materia Medica.

It is specially adapted to constitutions "worn down" and debilitated by the warm weather of Spring and Summer, when the blood is not in active circulation, consequently gathering impurities from sluggishness and imperfect action of the secretive organs, and is manifested by Tumors, Eruptions, Blotches, Boils, Pustules, Scrofula, &c., &c.

When weary and languid from overwork, and dullness, drowsiness and inertia take the place of energy and vigor, the system needs a Tonic to build it up and help the Vital Forces to regain their recuperative power.

In the heat of Summer, frequently the Liver and Spleen do not properly perform their functions; the Uterine and Urinary Organs are inactive, producing weakness of the stomach, and intestines and a predisposition to bilious derangement.

DR. WELLS'

EXTRACT OF JURUBEBA

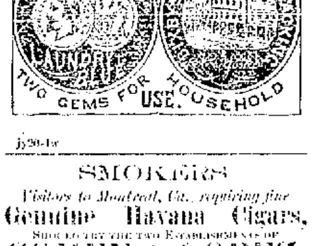

Is prepared directly from the SOUTH AMERICAN PLANT, and is peculiarly suited to all these difficulties; it will cleanse the VITIATED BLOOD, strengthen the LIFE-GIVING POWERS, and REMOVE ALL OBSTRUCTIONS from IMPAIRED ENFEEBLED Organs.

It should be freely taken, as Jurubeba is pronounced by medical writers the most efficient PURIFIER, TONIC and DEOBSTRUENT known in the whole range of medicinal plants.

NOTICE.

A prominent New York physician lately complained to DUNDAS DICK, about his SANDALWOOD OIL CAPSULES, stating that sometimes they cured miraculously, but that a patient of his had taken them without effect. On being informed that several imitations were sold, he inquired and found his patient had not been taking DUNDAS DICK & CO'S.

What happened to this physician may have happened to others, and DUNDAS DICK & CO. take this method of protecting physicians, druggists and themselves, and preventing OIL OF SANDALWOOD from coming into disrepute.

PHYSICIANS who once prescribe the Capsules will continue to do so, for they contain the pure Oil in the best and cheapest form.

DUNDAS DICK & CO. use more OIL OF SANDALWOOD than all the Wholesale and Retail Druggists and Perfumers in the U. S. combined, and this is the sole reason why the pure Oil is sold cheaper in their Capsules than in any other form.

OIL OF SANDALWOOD is fast superseding every other remedy, sixty Capsules only being required to insure a safe and certain cure in six or eight days. From no other medicine can this result be had.

Dick's Soft Capsules solve the problem long considered by eminent physicians, of how to avoid the nausea and disgust experienced in swallowing, which are well known to detract from, if not destroy, the good effect of many valuable remedies.

Soft Capsules are put up in tin foil and neat boxes, thirty in each, and are the only Capsules prescribed by Physicians.

TASTELESS Medicines. Castor oil and many other nauseous medicines can be taken easily and safely in DUNDAS DICK & CO'S SOFT CAPSULES. No Taste. No Smell.

☞ These were the only Capsules admitted to the last Paris Exposition.
